Introduction:

Trustees are often confronted by the need to make difficult decisions in the administration of their trusts. In making such decisions, they are subject to a wide range of duties, the breach of which can open them to claims from beneficiaries on various grounds. One solution may be for trustees to apply proactively to court for the court’s ruling on questions of construction of the trust or for guidance on the exercise of their powers. By doing so, trustees can be reassured that the steps they propose to take have the backing of the court, which provides confidence to beneficiaries that the trust is being administered properly, and protection to the trustees from potential liability for breach of trust.

This webinar will consider the fundamental decision-making duties of trustees and the practical steps that trustees can take to obtain guidance of the court in the exercise of their powers.
